

Cotswold Line Railbus

Timetables

The Cotswold Line Railbus is the easy way to access train services from the Oxfordshire Cotswolds area. Buses run to Kingham and Charlbury stations from local villages and towns, and are timed to connect with trains to and from Oxford, Reading and London to make your journey as easy as possible.

The Railbus will wait for up to five minutes if trains are running late, except for the last journey of the day on routes X8 and C1 which will wait for up to 20 minutes.

On Saturdays the last three X8 journeys will wait up to 20 minutes for late running trains from London.

For passengers travelling to Chipping Norton, combined rail and bus tickets are available for travel between any National Rail station and Chipping Norton via route X8 or 233 from Kingham Station. These tickets can be bought from rail station booking offices, rail appointed travel agents or by calling 08457 000 125.

Services X8, C1 and 233 are normally operated by modern wheelchair accessible buses which make boarding and alighting as easy as possible. You can board the bus at any stop it passes by clearly signalling to the driver as the bus approaches. In villages where there are no nearby bus stops, routes X8 and C1 will operate hail & ride and stop at any safe location.

Further details about Cotswold Line Railbus services can be found at www.railbus.co.uk or by calling either RH-Transport for services X8, C1 and T1 (01993 869100), or Stagecoach for service 233 (01865 772250).
